"Israeli Apartheid Against the Palestinian People: Conceptual Tensions and Patterns of Confrontation"

The International Academic Campaign (IACA), in partnership with the Ministry of Culture and the Sahouri Cultural Center "Diwan", organized a unique intellectual symposium to discuss the book "Israeli Apartheid Against the Palestinian People: Conceptual Tensions and Patterns of Confrontation" at Dar Dakkart center in Beit Sahour.

The discussion was moderated by researcher Nadia Al-Atrash, while the discussion committee included Dr. Ramzi Odah, former Minister of Culture Dr. Ihab Bseiso, and Professor Nathir Mjali, an expert in Israeli affairs. The symposium was widely attended by approximately 70 academics, researchers, and those interested in Palestinian affairs, which added an intellectual dimension and rich dialogue.

The symposium's most prominent conclusions:

- 1- Exposing the racist nature of the Israeli occupation and revealing the mechanisms for sustaining the apartheid regime in Palestine.
- 2- Highlighting the seriousness of Israeli attempts to dismantle the Palestinian demographic structure as a systematic policy of ethnic cleansing.
- 3- Emphasizing that the occupation's daily practices and crimes on the ground are covered by official racist legislation and laws.

Activities to Commemorate the International Day to Protect Education from Attack

On the occasion of the International Day to Protect Education from Attack, the International Academic Campaign (IACA), in partnership with the Palestinian Education Coalition, organized a series of events as follows:

1- Virtual Solidarity Vigil

A virtual solidarity vigil was organized via Zoom to discuss the challenges facing education in Palestine, in light of the systematic targeting by the Israeli occupation. Speakers included: Mr. Rifa'at Al-Sabah, Mr. Ahmad Taqatqa (facilitator), Mr. Hassan Abd Rabbo, Dr. Rania Al-Loh, Mr. Hassan Mlihat, and Dr. Ibrahim Al-Masri. The event attracted a remarkable attendance of approximately 70 academics, teachers, and educators.

Key outcomes of the event:

- Signing a political and legal document addressed to the international community regarding the occupation's crimes against education and students in Palestine.
- Proposing an initiative to form a unified discourse addressing European societies regarding Israeli attacks and violations against the educational process.
- Presenting an initiative to form a crisis cell with relevant institutions in Gaza and the West Bank to ensure the management of the educational process in light of the ongoing war and attacks.

Activities to Commemorate the International Day to Protect Education from Attack

2- Issuing a statement in which the International Academic Campaign and the Palestinian Education Coalition called on the international community and its human rights institutions, including UNESCO, to fulfill their moral and legal responsibilities and exert real and effective pressure on the occupation authorities to halt all forms of attacks on schools, teachers, academic and university institutions. This includes halting the piracy of Palestinian public funds and ensuring a safe and stable educational environment that embraces the right to education as a space for freedom and dignity. They also emphasized the protection and continuation of UNRWA's educational services and the preservation of its role, as stipulated in UN General Assembly Resolution 302. They called for efforts to compensate for the educational loss resulting from the blockade, attacks, emergencies, and crises, and to ensure support for teachers, enabling them to carry out their duties with complete freedom, and securing their professional and economic rights.

3- Publishing a documentary infographic that presents, in numbers and data, a shocking picture of the extent of the violations facing the educational process in Palestine, particularly in the Gaza Strip, where schools and universities have been transformed from spaces for learning and knowledge into direct targets for bombing and destruction.

4- Launching a political and legal document on educational genocide, signed by hundreds of educational activists and academics. Calling on the United Nations to include Israel on the list of countries violating children's rights and education. They also demanded that the UN Security Council activate urgent protection mechanisms for educational institutions in Palestine, given the systematic bombing and destruction they are subjected to, threatening the present and future generations.

Training Program in China Titled "Capacity Building for Strengthening Governance in Arab Countries"

The International Academic Campaign (IACA) participated in a training program in China, organized by the China National School of Governance, titled "Capacity Building for Strengthening Governance in Arab Countries."

The program included participants from Jordan, Iraq, and Egypt, and included lectures on governance and development in China, and visits to factories and model villages to understand the nature of institution-building there. IACA was represented by Dr. Ramzi Odah, Secretary-General of IACA, Dr. Walid Obayat, and Mr. Tarek Abu Al-Wafa.
